

How You Relate to Water

Water is one of our most valuable resources. It's everywhere and always fluid, but also unfortunately, very limited. The water we use (or misuse) today, which has been around since the our planet's beginning, is all we got. Because of its fluidity and how it flows, water is also linked to our emotions. How we feel.

This worksheet will combine these two uses of water: the practical with the magical. Below keep track of how often you connect, drink, use or surround yourself with this element, whether it's when taking a bath, using it to cook or water your plants. Write how te water feels, the weight, how it looks, etc. Also, remember to visit writingorbit.com for more.

1. Use of Water:

2. Use of Water:

3. Use of Water:

4. Use of Water:

